Project scope

65" television for general viewing

Discrete 8ft cinema screen and projector

In-ceiling 5.1 surround sound setup

Control4 system – for simple operation by all staff

Client brief

The site wanted to improve their entertainment facilities and create an entertainment room which could be used for a variety of purposes. They needed a versatile dual-purpose room in which media could be enjoyed either on a large high definition TV or, on film nights, on a bigger cinema screen with a projector. High quality audio, and simplified control was also vital to make the whole system complete.

Client Comment

To say that I'm very satisfied about the service we have been provided with is an understatement and the very least I can say.

You have been helpful, honest, realistic, clear, not overpricing or overpromising, knowing exactly what would work for us without compromising on quality.

The engineers who attended to the installation have all been very professional, helpful and are passionate about what they do. It is clear to me that your staff take pride in delivering a quality product.

Well done to you all.
